

A Message to our Leading Edge Learning Center students, their parents, and our community partners about the Coronavirus, from CEO Rob Mason

Like so many of you, we have spent the last several days and weeks learning about the coronavirus (COVID-19) and how it is impacting our world. For Leading Edge Learning Center, that means understanding how it affects our managers, instructors, students, and their families, and then making the necessary adjustments to our work and operations.

I'd like to take this time to address concerns about the Coronavirus (COVID-19) and the steps we're taking in our Centers. Our first priority is to focus on keeping people safe and healthy. We are closely monitoring the situation and following guidance from public health officials and government agencies, including the Centers for Disease Control. We will continue to make ongoing assessments and stay in constant communication with our Branch Managers and Instructors to provide information and guidance to our valued customers as developments unfold.

The cleanliness of our centers is always a top priority for us, and now more than ever. In addition to our regular cleaning procedures, increased sanitization measures are being implemented to all of our locations.

We understand this situation is top of mind for all of us right now. As circumstances continue to change, our goal is, and will continue to be, to provide a safe and welcoming environment for all student, parents and staff members across our Inland Empire communities.

Please be advised that we'll still be offering hybrid or online tutoring support for all students who have a computer with internet access at home. This service is available throughout Riverside, San Bernardino, and San Diego Counties. You can contact us at 951-684-3811 or 888-517-3522 for more information or visit us online via www.leadingedgelearningcenter.com to submit an online inquiry.
